

Spotlight Online Colour Supplement – February 2021

Nikki Jones, Chair of Avon Needs Trees and writer/researcher on energy issues, will be giving an overview of what has changed under Covid and what still needs to happen for a green recovery on Monday 15th of February. Tickets are free through Eventbrite or Facebook, but donations to Avon Needs Trees are requested. There will be plenty of opportunity for Q&A. Free Online Talk: Are We Losing the Opportunity for a Green Recovery? Tickets, Mon, Feb 15, 2021 at 7:30 PM | Eventbrite

These beautifully illustrated booklets, designed for children, giving a brief history of the ancient Forest of Pewsham. These can be sent to the person of your choice by emailing contact@avonneedstrees.org.uk and a donation of £5.

A couple of views of the land off Bollands Hill that Avon Needs Trees hope to turn into a community wood, orchard, ponds and meadows.

Jo McManus getting into the character of a tree in preparation for her sponsored run – full details under ‘Announcements’ in the magazine. Another not so local runner, Leonora Fox, is also running for the Avon Needs Trees Seend project. Look for her ‘Go Fund Me’ page.

Now to village life this winter – Jackie Hamblin’s view of the ‘Carols on your Doorstep’ trailer in Seend and Amy Westmacott’s shot of the Wadworth’s horses in Bulkington.

Some recent and some historic views of Seend in winter from Graham Hickman, Pam Church, Jonathan Robbins, Jamie Halliday, Annette Cresswell, Matthew Job, Amy Plumb, Laura Ann, Sue Holloway, Tina Yockney and Tessa Doe.

The Barge in 1987 before renovation.

Below is the very view that Wiltshire Council is thinking of ruining with a four-lane highway.....

We're pleased to say that this abandoned welly was recovered and returned to its rightful owner.

A sign of things to come.....